VETERAN BASEBALL FANS DESCRIBE INSIDE TRICKS

Infielders Might Stop Ty Cobb on Some of His Daring Plays if They Studied His Style—Base Runners Try Many Stunts Which Might Be Dangerous for Them.

Traveling men are almost invariably ardent baseball fans, and most of them are close students of inside tricks which distinguish experienced players from the amateur. Such a bunch of fans recently gathered in the lobby of the Arlington hotel and during their discussion exchanged ideas gleaned from their study of the great American game as played on the village corner lot, and the densely crowded major league baseball fields.

"It's strange," said a veteran knight of the grip, "that Cobb is allowed to get away with that play of going from first to third on an infield out. I've watched him closely for a year or more, and I find that on the hit-and-run, with those conditions existing and only one man out, he will invariably make one try for third."

"Now, if the infielders playing against Cobb were wise, they could tag him nine times out of ten on that play. Now? Simply by making a bluff to throw to first base and then holding the ball until Cobb was on his way to third. He could be cut down nearly every time; but the infielders don't think that far. They have the idea firmly in their minds that the first man they must get is the fellow who hits the ball, and so Cobb pulls off that first-to-third stunt right along."

"Another play that could be worked with some degree of regularity with wide-awake infielders," chimed in another wise one, "is that of holding the ball on an infield tap on which a man goes from second to third. Invariably the runner will turn third and run 15 or 20 feet beyond the bag while the throw is being made to first. In the hope of a slight miscue at the initial sack allowing him to go home. Now what's to prevent the infielder making a bluff to throw and then shooting the ball to third just as the runner crosses that bag? It could be done easily, but since Tom Corcoran worked it with the Cincinnati Reds some eight or ten years ago, I don't believe it's been tried in high society."

KETCHEL TELLS JEFF HOW TO FIGHT JOHNSON

"If Jeffries will play for Johnson's head all the time when they meet and never mind his stomach, he will get the black man sure as fate," says Stanley Ketchel.

Ketchel thinks the blow which knocked Johnson down in the twelfth round of their fight Saturday really hurt the black. Most of the spectators thought Johnson merely faked the knockdown to make the moving pictures better but Johnson himself admits that the blow hurt.

It is pointed out that Ketchel landed only one hard blow on Johnson's jaw and that one, while not nearly so hard as Ketchel is capable of delivering, put the negro to the floor.

Because of criticism of the match when it was first made to the effect that it was manifestly unfair to pit the giant negro against so small an opponent, it is said that Ketchel's weight was given out at 176, when as a matter of fact he did not scale more than 168, according to the information recently given out and that Johnson weighed more than 265 pounds, which gave him an immense, if not insurmountable, advantage.

ADAMS IS HOBSONIZED.

Pittsburg Star Narrowly Escapes From Fair Baseball Enthusiasts.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 22.—Charles ("Babe") Adams, who pitched three of the seven games of the world's series for the Pirates and won them all, today escaped being "Hobsonized" only by the quickest kind of work. Employing his good pair of legs, he made a flying get-away from his boarding house on Main street, and deliberately hid from his admirers in a private hotel.

By actual count there were 436 young women who wanted to kiss him. The crowd gathered shortly after 1 o'clock. "Babe" did not appear. Instead, he lurked in the fastnesses of his home until he could stand the strain no longer. Then he slipped out a back way and made a break for safety.

WHERE JENNING'S TIGERS WILL SPEND THE WINTER

After the Trip to Cuba the Members of Detroit's Championship Team Will Scatter Throughout the Country—Ty Cobb Will Sell Automobiles Throughout Winter.

Early next week quite a party of Tigers will be Cuba-bound. Others, who will not make the long trip, will have either hied to their winter homes or else wandered off to a quiet neighborhood to recuperate.

Of the catchers, Stange will winter in California, this being his home state. Charley Schmidt plans a two months' trip through the Arkansas woods with his trusty rifle and two dogs. Beckendorf will hold forth in a strong Tammany district in New York. He will be actively interested in the fall campaign that is being waged in Gotham over the mayoralty plum.

Bill Donovan will attend strictly to his knitting, that is, running the billiard room on Monroe avenue, Detroit. Ed Kilian will winter in Detroit. This will be his first year here. Last winter he spent the cold days in Racine, Wis. Mullin will live in Wabash. He is planning a hunting trip also. He has several invitations to attend duck hunting parties. Edgar Willett and George Speer will spend the winter in Wichita. Ralph Works plans to enter a business career at Medicine Hat, where he has many friends. Eddie Sumner will take a much needed rest at his home 29 miles from Indianapolis. Leivelt will winter down south.

Old St. Louis appeals to Tom Jones, and he will have the satisfaction of walking with head erect there, conscious that he cheated the St. Louis "knockers" out of a victim, for Tom's change to Detroit was a windfall to the first sacker.

Last winter saw Jim Delehanty a member of the team that toured Japan and the Orient. This playing ball all winter may be a good thing financially, but physically it is wearing. "De" wants no more of winter ball. His "hang-out" will be Cleveland.

O'Leary is undecided whether or not to accompany Joe Cantillon and Herman Schaefer on a hunting expedition down the Mississippi. Chicago is O'Leary's home, and everybody within a radius of five miles of the stock yards knows the popular infielder.

"Don't" Bush will be a winter pal of Summers and will lay idle this winter in Indianapolis. Bush has many friends here.

George Moriarty's taste runs to theaters and he likes nothing better than to attend the many performances in Gotham during the cold months. Moriarty knows the show houses of New York like a book.

After plotting the Tigers through Cuba, Matty McIntyre may take a short whirl at the Florida league or else retire to Staten Island. Ty Cobb has already contracted to sell automobiles in Georgia. Sam Crawford and his happy family will be residents of Detroit all winter. Crawford's home is permanently established. Dave Jones, who is also a Detroit resident, is thinking seriously of opening a drug store this winter. In fact, he is at present considering several propositions. Last, but not least, Hughes Jennings will resume his law practice in Scranton. Good luck to all of them.

SHUTOUT RECORDS.

American League Teams Use the Whitewash Brush Freely.

American league pitchers broke their own record for spilling whitewash this season, there being 145 games in which one team was shut out, including one in which both teams failed to register a run. The high water mark for shut out games in the young league previous to this year was 135, but the National league holds the major record, with 163 blanks made last season.

Of these ruthless victories in the young league forty were won by scores of 1 to 0, and this number is one more than the similar battles of last season. Eight 1 to 4 battles have lasted into extra innings this year.

The Athletics had a run on these low score battles during May, and won three of them in succession, one of them from St. Louis and the other two from the White Sox. The two 1 to 0 games won from the Sox went thirteen and twelve innings respectively, on successive days, May 16 and 17.

The White Sox have handed shutouts to their opponents twenty-five times this year, and have suffered that ignominy only eighteen times in return. The Chicago hurlers who have wielded the whitewash brush are: Walsh, 8 times; Smith, 7; White, Scott and Burns, 3 times each, and Sutor once.

MICHIGAN IS PLEASED WITH MARQUETTE GAME

The Michigan athletic board is patting itself on the back for arranging the game with Marquette university in Milwaukee. The school draws quite a few students from Milwaukee. Loel, the former star Michigan football player, while strictly a Michigan boy, was regarded as a Milwaukee product, as he attended school at Marquette and took his first lessons in the game up stead, he lurked in the fastnesses of his home until he could stand the strain no longer. Then he slipped out a back way and made a break for safety.

Michigan's Football Prospects Good

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 22.—Michigan has the most likely lot of material this year that Yost has had to work with since the 1905 team. True, much of the material is green, and to that fact is due the fumbling so apparent in the first games; but the men are developing rapidly, and as soon as some of the star finds of the season, Lawton, Wells, Borleske, Pattengill and Rogers, begin to know what to do at the right time, Michigan's opponents are going to have considerable difficulty in stopping them.

Coach Yost and Redden have spent nearly the entire week trying to remedy the faults that were most glaring in the first games. Some of the defects, such as fumbling, were due to the nervousness incident to playing their first "varsity" game—which was the case with nearly the entire line and half of the backfield.

The makeup of the "varsity" has undergone two radical changes since the opening game. Freeman has again regained the good will of the media and has been placed at left half, where he will remain during the entire season, barring an unexpected reversal of form; and Pattengill has been used at quarterback. The first change is of course permanent. Freeman being easily the best backfield player Michigan has had in years.

There, he was one of Yost's stars last year. Archie Hahn, the great sprinter, who spent most of his time in Milwaukee, was secured for the Michigan school by a Milwaukee man and was always looked upon as a Milwaukee boy. In this way Milwaukee has achieved quite a reputation as the home of athletes up in Michigan.

The school officials are anxious to bring their own to that city to award the faithful Milwaukee alumni with a big game and a chance to see the election of their alma mater in action. Yost is anxious to make a good showing and will instruct the man who calls the signals to use all the plays which he has given them. He has been putting the team through some hard practice and they will be in good shape Saturday.

"THE GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI" AT THE CALUMET THEATRE SOON.

Lord Kitchener, Appointed High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of English Forces in Mediterranean.

London, Oct. 22.—It may be said without fear of contradiction that Lord Kitchener, the latest British field marshal, is the most discussed of English soldiers. When it was announced that the Duke of Connaught, feeling his position as commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean to be a sinecure, had resigned, the rumor spread that Lord Kitchener was to take his royal highness' place. For once, rumor did not lie, although it is evidently true that duties Lord Kitchener will be called upon to perform will be more onerous than those asked of his royal predecessor. The period of Lord Kitchener's command in India, was very fruitful. Remembering this, it is perhaps interesting to quote Lord Roschery on the new field marshal. Lord Kitchener had just gone to India when Lord Roschery, referring to the war office, gave it as his belief that it would take a Hercules to clean out that Augean stable—"but they have sent Hercules to the Himalayas." There are those who would like to see the new field marshal victory of India; but it may be thought impetuous to place a military man in such a position.

INDOOR BALL AT ARMORY.

Permission is being sought by the members of Co. A, engineers, to play occasional games of indoor baseball at the Calumet Light Guard armory, and it is expected that the consent of the necessary authorities will be forthcoming. The absence of halls, where indoor baseball may be played in Calumet is a notable one, and because of this fact the great game suffers during the winter months. Most of the residents of Calumet remember the spirited contests which are played at the old armory, and the fine teams which represented the Houghton and Calumet militia companies at that time. They hope that the armory may be secured for indoor baseball. It would prove an ideal place for the games, from the standpoint of the spectators and the players, and if properly conducted would do no injury to the building.

To-day and To-morrow.

Happy men are full of the present, for its bounty suffices them; and wise men also, for its duties engage them. Our grand business undoubtedly is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand.—Edward Fitzgerald, "Polonius."

Does it tell people where your vacant room is, and just how cozy it is, and how cheaply you will offer it to a good roomer? Hardly. It is just nailed up on the door casing, some people see it while most people don't, and you wonder why nobody wants it. Somebody does want it, and wants it now. Give a little specific information through the NEWS WANT AD columns and you will probably find that somebody right away.
